

An aerial photograph of a residential area. A red line with arrows indicates a boundary or path. The line starts at a red square marker on the right side, near a large white building, and follows a winding path through the neighborhood, ending at a pond in the upper left. The area includes houses, streets, and green fields. Highway 90 and Highway 305 are visible in the top right corner. The word "BISEL" is written in the bottom left corner.
